

Rita Nemr, MD

Endocrinology Specialist

LAU Medical Center-Rizk Hospital

Clinical Associate Professor of Endocrinology

LAU Gilbert and Rose-Marie Chagoury School of Medicine

Current position

Rita Nemr is clinical associate professor of endocrinology at the Lebanese American University and Past President of the Lebanese Society of Endocrinology Diabetes and Lipids 2012-2010.

Scientific and professional societies

She is member of the Endocrine Society, the American Diabetes Association and the European Society of Endocrinology.

Academy and Professional career

Dr Nemr received her medical education at St Joseph University School of Medicine in Beirut and postgraduate training in Hotel Dieu de France Hospital, Beirut, with a special training in lipidology at Pitie-Salpetriere Hospital-Paris.

She is an invited speaker in many local and regional congresses, and has many publications in the field of genetics of type 2 diabetes in Lebanon.